Lure of Life

Lesson for January 23, 1956

A coin, a sheep, a man—what do these three have in common? Jesus told a triple story using these three so different objects to bring out the same point. What the coin, the sheep, the man had in common was that each was lost. They were out of place, useless, in fact doing more harm than good. But the young man who went to a far country was different in an important way. He knew what he was doing, or thought he knew. He wanted life, and he got it, only it was the Dr. Foreman wrong sort. If you had asked him at first why he was going away, he would have said, "I want to live!" But he ended in a pig-pen.

The Lost Are All Alike

Men and women get lost today for the same reason. They look for life in the wrong place. Victims of narcotics, or of alcohol, wanted something more out of life than they had, and they thought drink or drugs would help them. Every patient in an alcoholic ward is missing somewhere—missing from payrolls. From homes they had or might have had, missing from the ports they might have reached if they had not made shipwreck of themselves. And for every patient in some alcoholic ward there are a great many others who, though they may not have gone so far, are just as lost. What ought a Christian's attitude to be toward such people? Surely if Jesus taught anything plainly, it is that God does not despise or hate lost persons; he loves them and does not want them to stay lost. So the Christian who shares the mind of Christ will neither hate nor despise the lost people all around us today.

Prevention Is Better

One of the commonest ways of getting lost is through drink. Everything is done in advertising and in other ways to make it appear that you haven't really lived till you use "our old famous brand" of expensive alcohol. Young people need to have the other side of it shown to them, not in Dem's but in De's. Educator H. H. Hill (as adapted in "Listen") has put it something like this. What do you want from life? Topnotch health? You can't have it if you drink. A serene, satisfying, law-abiding life? Not with liquor for your companion! Life on the highest moral level? Not for drinkers and dopers. Do you want to wake up every morning with a clear head? Do you want uninterrupted success in a profession? Do you want to save money? To be a good driver? To form the habit of meeting your problems squarely without a fuzzy mind? Do you want to be able to enjoy a good time without the danger of flirting with a habit-forming drug? Do you want guaranteed immunity to one of America's four most damaging diseases? Do you want to be an example of good and not evil, for the young people in your community? All right—that's living, and you can't have that kind of living and the alcohol habit too.

Testimonials

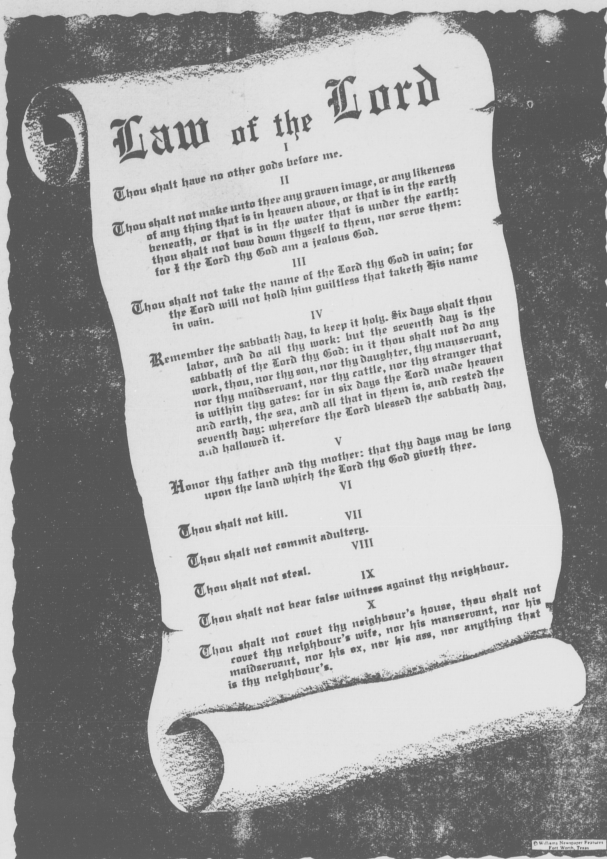

Maybe the main reason why the prodigal son went wrong was that he listened to the wrong people. Men can always be found who can be paid to pose in liquor ads. How about listening to some free testimonials on the other side? Ezra Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, says: "Knowing the infinite joy and peace of mind which result from never having used narcotics, smoked cigarette, or taken a drink of liquor . . . or knowingly profaning the name of Deity, I can sincerely recommend such a course to all." Dr. Kate Newcomb, written up in the Reader's Digest in June, 1954, says: "Naturally I do not use intoxicants. Why start a habit so many people must break?" Lewis Hoad of tennis fame speaks for many another athlete: "It is hard enough to get anywhere in life, without liquor or tobacco hindering one's chances for the future." Gil Dodds, the track star, says: "God has given me a body which I should not delfe." Do you want to live? Such people know how. County School Children Assist In Rehabilitating West Flood Victims

Funds contributed by local school children are helping flood victims in the West to return quickly to normal seasons.

The American Red Cross has announced that essential school supplies and reference books have been provided from the American Red Cross Children's Fund.

The Children's Fund is maintained by voluntary contributions from members of the Junior Red Cross. Such contributions were made last March by children in Louisville public, Jefferson County, parochial and private schools here.

These funds are kept separate from other Red Cross monies and are used exclusively for the relief of children in the United States and other countries.

Over $10,000 from the Children's Fund is being spent in flood hit Sutter and Del Norte Counties, California. Disaster directors in more than 20 other California counties have been authorized to spend up to $500 to meet emergency school needs in the four-state flood area which cannot be met immediately from public funds.

Also from the Children's Fund treasury, nearly $50,000 went to buy toys and candy for children in the flood area who had to spend Christmas Eve and Christmas Day in Red Cross shelters — their family Christmas presents left behind in flooded homes.

FINISHING BASIC
Russell G. Gadd, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Gadd, covered Bridge Road, Prospect, is scheduled to complete his recruit training Saturday at the U.S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. Following a two-week leave, he will be assigned to a permanent station.

Wide feet are said to be a sign of efficiency and intelligence.

Oak Grove News

By Mrs. M. B. Graham

Keep in mind the Fairmont Homemakers are having a cake sale Saturday at the Fernmoor Pharmacy in Fern Creek.

Mary Kuntz celebrated her birthday Monday evening, January 23, in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kuntz. She was 8 years old. They had a jolly time playing games after which refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake and soft drinks were served. She received many nice gifts. To enjoy this splendid occasion were little Misses Brenda Schuler, Sheila Homish, Paula Sanders, Paula Williams, Master Buddy Williams, John Hays, and Bill Klaphke.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Breitenstein entertained at supper Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith, after which they all went to the Taylor Boulevard Funeral Home to pay their last respects to a relative who had passed away.

Mr. and Mrs. Leve Warner are enjoying a new freezer. Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Holt Saturday were Mrs. Jean McGrunder and Barbara, Mrs. Alice Rinsinger and Miss Linda Rinsinger.

Mrs. Charles Holt and Steve, and Mr. James "Sonny" Ellingsworth attended ball game Friday night at Bardotown. Fern Creek defeated Bardotown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Warner and family spent Sunday in Louisville with Mr. and Mrs. George Holt and family.

Mrs. Joe Morsey, Mrs. Peggy Soeder and sons visited Mrs. M. F. Holt Wednesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rinsinger spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Spears.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morsey and sons spent Sunday in Indiana with Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Hatfield.

"Maybe the kids could keep on the straight and narrow belt if they got information from someone who's been over the route," D. O. Flynn.

Fern Creek High School News

Fern Creek lost its Home Economics team last Friday when Mrs. Alice B. Housekeeper left for Pennsylvania to join her husband. Mrs. Housekeeper had been with Fern Creek for four years as teacher and head of the department.

The gym is still burning since the basketball game last Friday between the G.A.A. and the women faculty members. The G.A.A. won (of course) and the ladies' gymnasium is nursing scratches.

Our basketball team will tangle with Eastern on Friday at the Masonic Home. We meet Wednesday on Saturday at our gym.

Mr. Klaphke and other eagle-eyed members of the faculty have been busy guarding doors to keep our winter sports lovers from leaving school in pursuit of snow making. It's a mighty good snow for snow balls, too.

SNYDER HONORED

Gene Snyder, city attorney of Jeffersontown, has been elected a member of the executive committee of the Kentucky Association of Trial Attorneys. Officers and members of the association were elected at a meeting last Friday in the Waterson Hotel, Harold R. Marquette, Louisville, was named president.

James McCorkle, 48, of 2721 Goldsmith Lane for 15 years, personnel director for Taylor Ford Stores, died at 8:11 a.m. Sunday in Kentucky Baptist Hospital following a week's illness.

Mr. McCorkle, a registered pharmacist, had been with the drug chain 14 years and formerly managed the store at Fourth and Walnut Streets. He was a native of Henderson, Tenn., and a member of the Haldemane Avenue Church of Christ.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Kate Aycock McCorkle; his mother, Mrs. Daisy McCorkle; Henderson; a brother, Tom McCorkle, Henderson; and two daughters, R. W. Stewart and Miss Helen McCorkle, also of Henderson.

The body was taken to the Tennessee city for funeral and burial services Wednesday.

Miss Vassie A. Moore

Funeral services for Miss Vassie A. Moore, formerly of Jeffersontown, were held at 2 p.m. last Wednesday in Myers Funeral Home. Interment was in Bethlehem Cemetery.

Miss Moore, who lived two years with a nephew, Hewitt Robinson, and Mrs. Robinson, Jeffersontown, died January 16 in her residence, 1322 South Third Street, Louisville.

Other survivors are nieces and nephews, Mrs. Howard Dulin and J. C. Robinson, Jeffersontown; Christy Scobee and Mrs. Marvin Edlin, Wilkesville; Mrs. Roy Cowell and Mrs. Mae Talbot, Louisville; and Charles Walters, Birmingham.

TRELLIS OF ROSES—A centerpiece supreme made of pink crocheted bordering pink lines is as lovely as a trellis of roses in full bloom. This delightful introduction to National Crochet Week, January 22-29, features rose-centered motifs, crocheted separately in rounds and joined together to form the border. Instructions for making this ROSE CENTERPIECE, Let's Let No. 71-5, and the rules for entering the 1956 National Crochet Contest may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper.

RUNTY PIGS ARE WORTH SAYING

In this age of good feeding, breeding and management, runty pigs don't plague hog farmers as much as they did 25 years ago. But retarded growth still occurs occasionally in even the best operations, and runts that develop during the growing stages are well worth saving.

When pigs are born weighing 1 1/2 pounds or less, their development is a problem of genetics. Or maybe the sow wasn't properly fed during gestation. In either case, most hog raisers find it is profitable to destroy 1 1/2 pound pigs at birth, since this pig should be sorted from the other pigs, placed in dry - Draft-free quarters, and fed this fortified mixture for two weeks.

Plenty of feeder space should be allowed during this time, and fresh water should be before them at all times. The concentrate in their ration may stimulate them to drink more water than usual. After having the fortified ration for two weeks, the pigs should have developed enough so that they can then be fed and handled with the others again.

RAISE A BIG CALF LIKE THIS

(After it's 3 days old)

Mr. Dairyman:

You don't have to feed any milk to calves any more. As soon as they're 3 days old, take them off the cow and feed Purina Nursing Chow milk replacer twice a day. Also self-feed Purina Cal Startena plus block salt and water.

When calf is 30 days old, quit all gruel and feed only dry Calf Startena in a trough. This plan is way easier than feeding milk and grain. It's way cheaper, and it grows a bigger, more rugged calf. This sounds like a big order, but drop by and let us tell about folks in this community who are doing everything we say. Or try the Purina Plan or just one calf and see for yourself.

Plans Made For Many To Attend Farm, Home Week

Arrangements are being made to accommodate several thousand men and women at the 44th annual Farm and Home Week at the University of Kentucky next week—January 31 to February 2, it was announced at Lexington.

Programs will be of interest to farm men and women and to all other persons concerned with the welfare of Kentucky, it was stated. Many phases of farming and homemaking will be discussed by men and women of national note, by farm people and by extension workers and members of the faculties of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics and the Agricultural Experiment Station.

There will be special sessions devoted to the farm out-look. Included will be prospects for raisers of livestock, for dairymen, for tobacco, for strawberries and for other production. Speakers will discuss problems of home-making.

One program on the last day will deal with tobacco. Among speakers will be Randolph Taylor, secretary of the Kentucky and Dark Leaf Export Association. He will discuss foreigning markets.

Men and women will have separate sessions all four days, with the exception of Wednesday afternoon when everyone will meet in Memorial Coliseum. Speakers at that session, which will have as its theme, "The Farm Family of the Future," will include R. C. Gustavson, Washington, president of "Resources for the Future," whose subject will be "Your Farm in an Atomic Age," and Mrs. Lucella Canterbury, Chicago psychologist, who will discuss "How to be farm and home equipment shows all four days.

CORRECTION

In the Jefferson County Check-board News in last week's issue, Mrs. Carrie Jeffries, Mayo Lane, Prospect, was quoted as saying her 31-day-old River Crop pullets had laid 5 eggs the day before the visit of Emmett Mitchen, graduate feed advisor. She was misquoted. Her 53 pullets laid 51 eggs on the day mentioned.

Bardstown Road News

By Mrs. Fielden Frederick

Mr. Nevlin Bean, who was written up in the Courier-Journal, Monday morning, after his return from a three weeks' sojourn in Russia is a former Buechel boy, having lived at Fern Creek and attended the old Fern Creek school, many years ago. He and his sister, Mrs. Norbert Haag, (Marguerite Bean) were pupils of Mrs. Orville Silvers and Mrs. Fielden Frederick who taught at Fern Creek, at the beginning of their teaching career.

Mr. Bean, now of Detroit, is an engineer in the Automotive Transmission Department of the Ford Motor Co. He with Dr. Albert C. Hall, and Dr. W. L. H. Brandt, engineers of Westinghouse and Bendix Companies were sent by the government to spend several weeks in Russia to visit eleven business plants in exchange for three Russians who visited in the United States in October. Mr. Bean, who was a guest of his sister, Mrs. Haag, and Mr. Haag last week on Preston Highway, left for Washington, D.C., before returning to Detroit.

Mrs. Homer Thomas went to Lawrenceburg, Monday, where she attended the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Lydia Stratton, whose home was at Sinal, Ky. Mrs. Stratton, who was 89 years of age, was the sister of Mrs. Thomas' mother, Mrs. Mary Alice Ellis who died several months ago. Mrs. Stratton is survived by ten children and the funeral was conducted on Monday afternoon from the Gordon Funeral Home at Lawrenceburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Thompson and Mrs. Orville Silvers were guests Sunday afternoon of Mrs. Leila Lannert.

Mrs. Dawson Dugan, Ashland, was guest last week of her sister, Mrs. William Ferguson, at their home in Bardonia Chow. Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Collins of West Virginia moved to Buechel, several weeks ago, where they have accepted a position. He is a brother of Mr. Curtis Collins.

Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Mahon and family have moved to their recently purchased home at Bardstown Road and Six Mile Lane. Dr. Mahon will continue his office of dentistry at the usual place.

Mr. John Irick spent several days last week with her mother, Mrs. J. V. Mahon, and Dr. Mahon.

Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. Forest Riddick and family in the passing of her mother, Mrs. Barbara Ann Bridwell, Saturday at the Baptist Hospital.

Build Hot-bed Outside Warm Basement Window

While a heated basement makes a poor root cellar, its surplus warmth can be diverted with profit into a hot-bed in which you can start seeds of both flowers and vegetable weeks earlier than it is safe to sow them outdoors.

The trick is to build a frame around a basement window, preferably with southern exposure, and open the window to let the warm air circulate over the plants.

In front of the window make a shallow excavation, about a foot deep. The size must be figured carefully, so that a frame set in this excavation can be covered by window or heated sash. As in the case of other hot-beds, a glass substitute may be used on the sash, if desired.

Build a frame to fit in the excavation. The sides must slant sharply from a point above the window, almost to the ground. Fill the sash on this frame, using slatted or a standard old sash, easily be raised for ventilation. Earth may be banked around the frame to keep out the cold; and the sides should be as tight as possible to keep out the wind.

The frame may have to be caulked, where it joins the foundation to prevent drafts, otherwise it is built like the garden bed, using a standard old sash as you choose.

Heat is supplied to this bed by opening the basement window, and allowing the heated basement air to enter the bed. The window is left open at night, and may often be closed during the day, when the sun is shining on the bed.

BUY-NOTES ON FOOD

From Extension Service, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

Americans do not make a great deal of the preparation of soup. In contrast, the French cooks may spend as much as 2 or 3 entire days in careful simmering, straining, and restraining of the basic stock. Preparation of soup is viewed as a very simple matter by the preparation by the modern housewife of the U.S.

This view as to the simplicity of making may be a direct result of our exposure to enormous variety of partially prepared soup available in our markets. Condensed canned soups have long been displayed on our grocery shelves. More recently several kinds of frozen soups have become available. In addition, there are dehydrated soups in convenient little paper packets which take up very little space and which require a minimum of preparation.

For good management of food budget, soup making which starts with an inventory of your own kitchen will often stretch the food dollar by making use of foods already on hand. Poultry and meat bones may be utilized for the basic flavor. Left-overs of vegetables and home canned foods can be served in a new guise. Low cost potatoes, dried beans, onions, and rice always add substance.

Good home-made soups with poultry or meat bones used for the basic stock, require long, slow cooking — but very little watching. Flavor is developed by the simmering temperatures and the addition of intriguing seasonings. Beef and lamb give a brown soup stock, which color can even be enriched by browning a little of the meat in a skillet before adding to the water and bones in the soup kettle.

Poultry and veal bones tend to give a light soup stock. Light soups are more highly prized as appetizers or taste tempters to introduce a meal.

Pick up the flavor in soup with poultry flakes, bay-leaf, basil (especially nice in soups where tomato is used), marjoram or thyme.

Nutritionally, soups offer some aids to a balanced diet. Extra milk can be added through creamed soups. Vegetables which may not have top priority with the family, may often be accepted when introduced in a soup mixture.

Glamorize the soup with a garnish. Thin slices of lemon rounds on the bean soup, grated cheese on the onion soup, parsley flakes on the cream meat soups, a dash of whipped soup cream seasoned with horseradish, suggest eye-appealing garnishes that enhance flavor.

Plan ahead! As you bone meat for freezing, promptly prepare soup stock from the bones removed from the round, rump, or chuck, for example. When you freeze chicken, freeze only the meaty and choice pieces. Prepare soup stock from the necks, wings, and backs.

After long slow cooking, cool the stock quickly. Skim off any excess fat, then freeze the stock for quick meal preparation. You will find it a convenience in the months to come.

WHAS Will Broadcast Farm and Home Events

WHAS-Radio will originate 45 minutes of daily programs from the University of Kentucky campus in Lexington during the 44th Annual Farm and Home Week at the University January 31 through February 2.

Barney Arnold, WHAS Farm Director, will originate his 6:15 to 6:30 a.m. and 12:45 to 1 p.m. farm news program from the campus. From 9 to 9:15 a.m. Tuesday through Friday, WHAS Home Director Phyllis Knight's "Your Home" broadcast will be from Lexington.

In addition to information regarding the daily happenings during Farm and Home Week, Arnold and Miss Knight will interview top authorities on agriculture and home-making from the University, the state, and other sectors of the country. The two WHAS personalities hope to highlight the Farm and Home Week conferences and exhibits for interested persons in the area who are unable to attend the annual event.

Cecil Morris Smith, son of the late Morris Smith and Mrs. Charles Rummage, died suddenly at 10 a.m. Wednesday, January 18, at the home of his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rummage, on New Cut Road, one mile north of Bethel Methodist Church. He had seemed as well as usual, had visited untold times the night before.

His mother, Mrs. Rummage, was called to the hospital after an operation last week. I hear he is doing fine. Mr. W. Yocum is on the sick list. Mr. Jack Gray was cut about the face when falling ice broke his windshield.

We had several new people at church last Sunday and we want to extend a cordial invitation for them to come again.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Tyree and son, Douglas, were Sunday night callers of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baete and family.

Mrs. Joe Baete, Mrs. Garnett Baete and Mrs. Harold Peak called one night recently on Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sticker and children.

Mrs. Nancy Smith had a bad scratch in her eye last week. We hope it doesn't cause any trouble.

Mrs. Levi Stockton is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Thelma Schneider at Dawson Springs. Mrs. Stockton isn't so well.

Mrs. Joe Baete, Misses Edna and Amelia Crouch called on Mrs. Lillian Berry Monday afternoon.

This snow spell has checked all carpenter work. I hear a lot of men are on account of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Baete and Mrs. Harold Peak were all day Saturday guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baete.

Tucker Station News

TEEN TIMES

By Emily Gehlke

CRASH helmets, everyone! That is what we needed last week. Several of you are crawling around after toboggan rides and wild snow fights. It was fun while it lasted. Some of the girls that appeared on the snow hills were unusual to say the least. Everything from sister wearing brother's pants to brother wearing sister's scarf. Speaking of clothes, do tag lines tend to rush girls at informal dances when they are wearing something more dressy than sweaters and skirts? We observed that girls wearing dresses (or a change) seemed more popular. This is strictly from the side lines.

Some girls are wearing rhinestone studded coats (or that hole in your head, of course). Do you have to wait watching a movie? We could hardly hear the last movie we went to for the popcorn and candy munching. In October, we had packaged dill pickles in the movies.

We heard of a dull thing some girls were doing. It seemed that they bake cup cakes with their names inside and send them to boys away from home. Last week, we mentioned stinky records. We read that there is a disc jockey who selects the worst records of the week and then breaks it after playing it once. Last week he broke "Teen-age Prayer" by Goodie.

Can anyone understand the words to "Speedo"? We are frustrated trying to find out his real name.

Anyone for old time movies? The late show on a certain T.V. station is featuring older our mamas love. This is the guy, Tar Hunter. Who's he got that Valentino didn't have? Don't answer that! We will fade away breathing heavily at the thought of Rudy.

Young G.O.P. Leaders Attend Training School

Six members of the Young Republican Club of Louisville and Jefferson County attended a leadership training school at the guidance of Republican senators and congressmen in Washington this week according to Woodford Dulany, president of the local club.

The five members are Woodford Dulany, Glenmore, George Long, Fern Creek; Thelen Hofkamp, Louisville; Scott Miller, Jr., Druid Hill, Louisville; and Mary Kay Penn, Jeffersville, Ind.

The Young Republican Club, designed for Republicans under 40 years of age, aims to promote better understanding of party organization and political issues, leaders said.

The American Way

UNIONISM - YESTERDAY AND TODAY

By Maurice R. Franks, president of the National Labor-Management Foundation and editor of its official publication. Partners.

Compulsion is a rough word for Americans. We resent its assault upon our dignity, we abhor the iron of its hand upon our lives. We know its sources and comprehend its purposes. With body, mind and soul we rebel against its use. To us it is another word for tyranny, and we have fought wars to avert its use.

To the American the right of free choice in matters permitting choice has been the structure of his self-esteem and the guiding light of his democracy. In his choice and the pursuit of happiness he has consistently held with his forefathers that life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are among the unalienable rights self-evidently conferred upon him by his Creator.

The integrity of the individual looms large in the public conscience of the American. We are guided by majority but not through tyrannical minorities. By groups we move forward but not at the expense of the individual. The Bill of Rights of our nation's Constitution crystallizes our ethics, our trust feeling one for another.

And within the patterns unfolded by this dedication to personal freedom, the American has developed himself and enhanced his way of life through voluntary associations and combinations of his energy. It grew in public stature as more and more workers threw themselves in the all-out struggle to realize their human and economic dignity.

Our unions for years were voluntary associations of workers who banded together for the purpose of mutual benefit, aid and protection. The unions and their leaders have realized that the workers who created them and their first successful federation has, in the words of the American Federation of Labor's first president, "held together by ropes of sand"—another words, held together by the voluntary hand-clasps of associated interests.

Men joined unions because they wanted to, because they felt it to be in their own, best interests to augment and fortify such organizations, and in many instances because of the need of tough-fisted employers did everything in their power to prevent them from doing so. The open shop, the black list, the yellow-dog contract—such instrumentalities of employer coercion served only to drive the workers' determination to build and strengthen their unions, come hell or high water.

Historically, thus, our unions were among the finest and cleanest expressions of America's dedication to the unalienable rights of free men.

Reverse Picture

To day, sadly enough, the picture appears in reverse. As of now, the unions stand for coercion — and gain numerical strength, not through the exercise and public appeal of lofty human principle, but through the imposition of union-shop clauses in more and more contracts with business and industrial management.

Today the story is increasingly told in the employment and membership. As of now, it is the organization of labor, dominated by the vested interests of union leadership and largely run for the private gain of such leadership, stands opposed to the individual's unalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. For with a union-shop contract in force, a government when a government is created — one which has the power to license the employment of men in a manner which, however ineffectual, it may prevent the individual from exercising his inalienable rights, is of tremendous service to the organization.

It is that service the modern labor leader seeks. As head of a private society, whose political setup is as private as his aspirations for it, the leader demands full disciplinary power over all workers covered by his contract as well as a blanket toll for the right to work. This is what he terms "union security" and the individual worker, regardless of his own mind, accepts dictation and pays the toll or he forfeits his chosen means of livelihood.

For every man who lives to be 65, there are seven women — but by that time it's too late!

HOMEMAKER CLUBS

BUECHEL

The Buechel Homemakers made a very good start in the new year having had 100% attendance at their meeting on January 5, and hope to keep up this record for the balance of the year. Mrs. C. B. Young, was the hostess at her home on Hixes Lane and Mrs. J. K. Turner was the co-hostess.

The lesson on making buttonholes and pockets was given by Mrs. Young and Mrs. Staebler. A work day was held at the home of Mrs. Young on January 12.

Following lunch the afternoon program was in charge of our citizenship chairman, Mrs. Gilbert Hayes, who had as guest speaker a student from the Kentucky Home School, Miss Betty Ann Tague, who is a senior and is also on the Hospitality Committee of Youth Speaks, Inc.

Our president, Mrs. J. Norman Crews, will be our delegate to the Farm and Home Convention which will be held in Lexington January 30 thru February 3.

The next meeting will be held February 2 at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Ralston on Bardonia Road. — Mrs. Karl Malone, publicity chairman.

SEATONVILLE

The next meeting of the Seatonville Homemakers will be held at 10 p.m. February 1 at the community building at Fern Creek. Mrs. Nell Charlton will be hostess.

Our fitting leaders, Mrs. Ann Korfhage and Mrs. Nell Charlton, will give the lesson on neckline finishes and tippers. Please remember to bring things for the White Elephant sale. — Mrs. Thelma Frasier, publicity chairman.

12-MONTH SCHOOL TERM CONSIDERED BY BOARD

The board dropped its annual appropriation of $40,000 to the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board. He said it was problematical whether or not it would eliminate the recreation program, but acknowledged that it would result in drastic curtailment.

Valley Elementary School is the only one having double sessions. Children spend four hours a day in classrooms, two hours less than the normal six-hour periods. Van Hoose said the short hours may result in the board receiving less state financial aid as the minimum foundation program may require full six-hour sessions in order that a district may get its full share of assistance.

If fully financed, the board could receive about $40,000 annually if the state's minimum foundation program is fully carried out.

Meanwhile, the board has not given up the fight for a one half of 1 percent occupational tax for school purposes. The board would bring the board an estimated $1,250,000 annually. The proposed tax has received unfavorable reaction from Jefferson County members of the General Assembly.

James H. Bates Elementary School

The third grade program was presented to the student body in variety fashion last week, with performances ranging from a piano solo to a mixed chorus singing Japanese songs. The girls from Mrs. Amy Hays, class highlighted the holidays due in the month of approaching 12 months. Mrs. Elizabeth Eldridge the thespians dramatized safety tips for the school and home; Mrs. Margaret Foster's chorales rendered several merry tunes while Mrs. Betty Lowe's youngsters concluded the program by singing an American folksong in Japanese.

The assembled pupil spectators enjoyed the talents of their third grade school mates and warmly anticipated the facts of the second graders who will be featured in February's program.

The recent snows provided more the usual gallery of snowmen around the school grounds last Thursday. As the school buses crept into the unloading area and the children popped through the vehicle doors, all youthful passengers then watched their own bus plow through the drifting snow on its way out to Bardonia road.

One bus moved too close to a deceptive snow bank and became entranced.

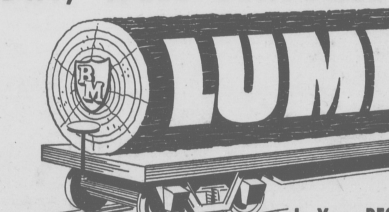

All efforts of an assisting bus and its driver proved of no avail as traction in this particular spot was most difficult. As the driver's disgust turned to exasperation, aid came from an unexpected source. Several hundred little eyes had been eagerly devouring this Yukon adventure and when word was given by the school principal to come and lend a hand, the bogged bus was launched against the back of the principal who in turn, was pushing the bus. However, the Bates Lilliputians had made possible a second run for the bus and the day started off with its usual bang. — Conrad Ott.

DRY, WELL-SEASONED

Is Your BEST BUY Today For Home Building Or Remodeling!

In this age of push-button living, and assembly line production, you may be tempted to select a "short-cut" to so-called "more economical" home construction. You may be tempted to take building materials (or substitutes) "almost as good as the best" — for LESS money. But please remember that Home Building or remodeling is a lifetime investment — worthy of the BEST in DRY, well-seasoned lumber, and precision millwork — that will stand up through the years, long after the mortgage on your home is paid.

So play SAFE, now! When you build for yourself, use DRY, well-seasoned Boland-Maloney lumber. It's the cheapest in the long run.

Jacob Heitzman Dies; Founder Of Bakeries

Funeral services for Jacob Heitzman, founder of four bakeries in Louisville, were held Monday morning at St. Martin Church. Burial was in St. Michael Cemetery.

Mr. Heitzman, who had been ill six months, was 94. He was the father of Charles Heitzman, Chenoweth Run Road, Jefferson-town. He gave up the baker's trade in 1917 because World War I restrictions kept him from using the best ingredients in his baking. His sons took over the main bakery at 1308 Baxter and three branches. The Baxter Avenue bakery closed 20 years ago.

A native of Germany, Mr. Heitzman once was discharged from the German Army because of ill health. He came to Louisville in 1878. He was the last living charter member of the Kentucky Master Bakers Association of the Louisville Master Bakers Association.

Surviving are two other sons, Joseph and Henry Heitzman; a daughter, Mrs. Paul Deebler, 27 grandchildren, and 39 great-grandchildren.
